

Mohamed Abdelsadek

Executive Vice President, North America Services at Mastercard

Mohamed is executive vice president, of the Services business for North America. He is responsible for the overall P&L of the business which covers all services products including: Data, analytics, loyalty, consulting, fraud, cyber and AI among other services. Prior to this role Mohamed was the EVP responsible for corporate strategy, corporate development and M&A at Mastercard.

Before Mastercard, Mohamed was at Synchrony Financial/ GE Capital where he held various roles including global head of strategy, head of payment innovation and networks and as a General Manager responsible for the issuing book with PayPal and eBay. He was also an associate partner with McKinsey & Company in the New York, Zurich, and Dubai offices advising financial services companies.

Mohamed earned a Bachelor of Computer Science and Electrical Engineering from SUNY at Stony Brook, a Master in Computer Science from Columbia University, and an MBA from the Wharton school at the University of Pennsylvania.